The reliance that womenkind has learned to put in crackers is being well illustrated at the tea being given for returning soldiers and sailors.

Every woman in the metropolitan area has in her pantry a generous supply of the National Biscuit Company's always useful and delicious Graham Crackers.

It is a fact that the thousands of Graham Crackers in Graham flour that are made in this country are a match for the best of foreign products.

CHILDREN'S SUNRISE STORIES

PLAYING SCHOOL.

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Nurse Jane, may Baby Bunty come into the woods with us?" asked Susie Littleall.

"Oh, I suppose so," said Nurse Jane. "I guess I'll just stroll through the woods and see what Baby Bunty is doing," said Uncle Wiggily when the animal girls had gone.

Not far away Uncle Wiggily saw the animal children seated on the soft moss, and Susie Littleall was playing teacher.

"Jennie Chipmunk," called "Teacher" Susie, "can you spell nut lollypop?"

"Yes," answered Jennie, "I can and I can eat one, also."

Just then Uncle Wiggily came to the greenwood "school" and said: "As soon as school is over we'll all go to have some sassafras ice cream sodas."

"Then school is over right now!" cried Susie, clapping her paws on the spelling book.

"Oh, not quite yet. I'd like to hear the children recite a few of their lessons first, Miss Susie Teacher," said Uncle Wiggily, pretending to be a visitor.

"Oh, very well," spoke Susie. "Now, we'll have a few more spelling words."

Then some of the children spelled hard words from Susie's book, and Uncle Wiggily said:

"That's enough. Now for the ice cream!"

"Yesss and now for some souse!" cried another voice, and out popped the apple Pipsawah.

"Oh Susie! I know how to drive him away," whispered the rabbit boy.

"How?" asked Susie.

"Make him spell a lot of hard words," went on Sammie, but Susie had a better idea.

"Instead of a few hard words I'll give him the whole spelling book at once," said she.

And threw the hard book straight at the Pipsawah. It hit him on the end of his tender nose.

"Oh, wow!" cried the Pip. "That was a hard blow!" and he ran away.

SMART SIMPLICITY FOR SWEET SIXTEEN

Smart simplicity is what every mother wants for her daughter of twelve to sixteen, and the accompanying model of plaid gingham meets both their requirements.

Local shops are showing adaptations of this model in which the apron front waist, the deep cuffs, the wide ash-gray, the deep cuff on the skirt, all of the plaid in the predominating color of the plaid are prominent features. Buttons of the same color as the piping finish the cuffs and skirt.

A hat in pale effect with tiny rosebuds and black velvet streamers is worn with this dress.

CREOLE MACARONI.

Fry in two tablespoonsful of hot oil, two slices of minced onion and a small minced green pepper (three only until well softened—do not brown. Blend in one tablespoonful of flour and stir in slowly half a cupful of seasoned stock and a quarter of a cupful of tomato puree. When thick and smooth add a teaspoonful of kitchen bouquet, three-quarters of a cupful of cooked ribbon macaroni and one tablespoonful of minced pimientos. Serve very hot, lightly sprinkled with grated cheese (Swiss particularly good).

Stage and Screen

By EARLE DORSEY.

L. STODDARD TAYLOR, of the Belasco Theater, was observed on a street yesterday afternoon with a brief case under his arm.

What's become of WILLIE FOWLER, of the National? The baseball club is home, and yet Mr. FOWLER is not in evidence, downtown.

By the way, that reminds us that we owe ZACH WALKEY 10 cents for some war tax he paid for us the other day.

CLARENCE J. HARRIS, of Polli's, is turning his thoughts toward house-hunting. He's one of our best little house-hunters, is Harris.

WARNER RICHMOND, of the Garrick Players, plans to leave Washington at the end of this week to accept an engagement in New York.

EARLE FOXE, also of the Garrick, has received a wonderful-looking bath lounge robe from a feminine admirer.

In order to answer a letter from a young mother I went shopping yesterday for King Baby, and never did I see such lovely and loveable things before.

I looked at things for the 6-months-old at several stores and found a most excellent assortment everywhere. One store was showing the daintiest little dress of nainsook finished with a briar stitch priced at $3.95. At another was one at $2.98, with a little V-shaped yoke of embroidery and lace in the front and tiny tucks in the back. Another very pretty little nainsook, made on a dainty yoke, sold for $1.25.

One shop was showing the cutest little rompers for the very tiny baby, too, and if there's a baby in your home you just couldn't resist the blue and white one I saw in crepe. From the waistline up the rompers were white trimmed in the blue. Two bands going over the shoulder looked for all the world like suspenders. Of course the part that really stands the wear was blue.

Certainly, dainty, cool little nainsook clothes for baby are essentials with the hot weather at hand. I will be glad to tell you just where these can be purchased upon the receipt of a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Troop Arrivals.

I have received inquiries concerning the following troop arrivals and the War Department informs me June 18 that:

The 301st Repair Unit of the Motor Transport Corps arrived at New York June 12, and is now at Camp Mills and is to be sent to Camp Sherman.

The 58th Pioneer Infantry sailed on the Mauri June 12 and is expected to arrive at Newport News June 22.

The 104th Photograph Section is in France, unassigned.

The 16th Pioneer Infantry is due on the Mexican June 22, and is to go to Camp Lee.

Wants to Buy Luncheon Set.

Dear Miss Lee: Will you tell me where the dollie made of Sassafras mentioned in your column June 12, can be purchased? I want to see my table linen in the summer time—J.

Yes, upon receipt of a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Sick Marine.

Dear Miss Lee: I have gone with a Marine for a long time. Three weeks ago he went to the hospital where I called on him several times, hoping to cheer him up. A week ago he promised to call me on the phone the next night and I waited for him. He didn't call. I waited until he did. Do you think I had better forget him or call again?—BLONDE.

It may be that the young man became too ill to phone you. If you think this might be the case, write him a brief note, saying that you hope he is getting better and that you will be glad to hear from him at any time.

329th Labor Battalion.

Dear Miss Lee: Will you give me some information concerning the 329th Labor Battalion?

The War Department informed me that A. B. C. D. and E Detachments of the 329th Labor Battalion are assigned.

Plans for Her Wedding.

Dear Miss Lee: Is it in accordance with the rules of etiquette to have a wedding party, to have one's own diamond ring to be used as an engagement ring? Just what things are considered proper to put in a hope chest upon his return he did not feel too

Changed Since Return.

Dear Miss Lee: I have been in love with a young man for two years. Upon his return from the front he was a changed man. He was another girl in a new city, and has written to me only once, stating at that time that he was going to his own home without returning here to see me. If he really meant all he wrote me from France don't you think he would write to me now?—B.

The young man probably realized upon his return he did not feel too

Marriage License.

Dear Miss Lee: To obtain a marriage license in New York City need more than one of the parties be present?—C. H.

Both parties must be present in New York City.

Ambulance Service in Italy.

Dear Miss Lee: When will the U. S. Ambulance Service with the Italian army return to the States?—READER.

A girl's destiny in our grand-mother's time was all cut out for her. No maiden worried her head over the future, nor did parents lie awake at night discussing what Mary and Jane should do. They would get married.

No girl is sure nowadays of getting married; nor is she does not get married. It is certain that she will get a husband who can support her. Therefore, I would urge every girl who has just finished school, to at once learn some way of making her own living, to the end that she may be independent.

If her family is poor she has no right to burden it any longer with her support. There is no earthly reason why a woman, tired overworked old father should have to toil to support a strong and husky young woman. Nor should the mother, who has sacrificed so much to raise and educate her little girl, be called on to make still further sacrifices to keep her big girl in idleness.

It is an obligation of nobility—it is the fair and square and decent thing for the children to remove themselves from their parents' backs as soon as possible, and give the old people a chance of a little ease and comfort in their age. And this goes for girls as well as boys.

All the doors of opportunity are wide open to women now, and any woman may walk through free and unhindered to her place in the sun. Just how far she goes depends on her own self.

TO THE SWEET GIRL GRADUATE

By DOROTHY DIX.

THE WORLD'S HIGHEST PAID WOMAN WRITER

You are just about to graduate in all the ologies and isms and a perfect dear of a white dress, and then, after you have hung your diploma on your bedroom wall, you will be wondering about the future. Where do you go? "Where do we go from here?"

The next station used to be matrimony. After a girl left school, she played at being a wife for a year or two, and then she married. But now the mother's time was all cut out for her. No maiden worried her head over the future, nor did parents lie awake at night discussing what Mary and Jane should do. They would get married.

HOROSCOPE.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 18, 1919.

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Mars rules strongly for good today, according to astrology. The sun is in benefic aspect, but Saturn has evil power.

There seems to be the best of promise for all who belong to military organizations.

The army is well directed and American soldiers should attain freedom and honor under this government of the stars.

Whatever is connected with war is subject to the best direction. Saturn seems to portend much scandal. The uncovering of what has been concealed is foreshadowed.

The secretary of war comes under a rule that is contradictory. While he will confront many problems he will also gain in popularity in many parts of the country.

The stars foreboding scandals seem to foreshadow the revealing of many hidden things. Divorces are likely to greatly increase in number.

After the war period, in which romance and sentiment were active to a marked degree, severe reactions will be evident, the seers explain, but there will be much courting and marrying.

It is said to be a lucky day for those who confer with the powerful, whether in business or political life. It is a most auspicious time to seek recognition.

Surgeons, engineers and architects should benefit especially today.

The President of the United States comes under away that will focus on him the extremes of public opinion, but he has the best possible direction of the stars. There is promise of supreme achievements being accorded full measure of praise.

Danger of dissensions in churches and much agitation over changes in creeds is foretold.

Race problems will come much to the front at this time and there may be grave mistakes in policy.

The stars indicate that there is probably will have an active year. Employees are likely to be promoted. Both men and women should safeguard the health.

Children born on this day are likely

Mrs. Newton D. Baker was the guest of honor at the dinner which Mrs. William Erie Fowler gave last night at the Dower House. Mr. Baker left town this evening for Washington, W. Va., to attend the commencement exercises at West Virginia University. He will be given an LL. D. degree and will make a brief address at the graduation ceremonies.

The Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. William C. Redfield will leave town for New York on Thursday. Mr. Redfield is going on official business. Mrs. Redfield will be the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Drury, in Brooklyn.

The Hon. Mr. Ronald Lindsey, charge d'affaires of Great Britain, has taken over the apartment in Wendell Mansion, 233 Massachusetts street, which was occupied by Lord Northcliffe during his visit in Washington several months ago. When he first came to town Mr. Lindsey stayed with Mrs. Wayne MacVeagh, his late wife's sister.

M. Maurice Cazenave, head of the French high commission, is in Washington for a visit after having spent some time in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury Blair gave a dinner last night at Grasslands for Mrs. William Sterling, of England, who is their guest.

Mrs. John W. Foster has as her house guests her daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. A. M. Dulles, and Miss Eleanor Dulles, of Watertown, N. Y. Miss Dulles has just returned from Paris, where she has been a most zealous worker for nearly two years. All the refugee garments made by the State Department with relief, under the direction of her aunt, Mrs. Lansing, were shipped directly to Miss Dulles for distribution.

News has reached Washington of the marriage of Mr. Thomas S. Jones, American Minister to Honduras, to Miss Julia Durbin Duron, which took place on Saturday, June 14, in the American Legation at Tegucigalpa, Honduras. The President of Honduras was among the guests at the ceremony. Mr. Jones' home is in Baton Rouge, La. He is a lawyer, educator and public speaker and has been prominent in the Red Cross and other wartime organizations.

Brig. Gen. Lionel E. O. Charlton, of the British Embassy staff, has rented Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Hopkins' residence, 1825 Massachusetts avenue, for the summer months and will take possession on June 28.

Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg, who is in New York, is expected back in Washington this week and will remain here with Senator Kellogg the greater part of the summer.

Representative and Mrs. Ira C. Copley have gone to their home in Aurora, Ill. for a week's visit.

Mrs. Richardson Clover will return to town tomorrow, after a short stay in New York. Rear Admiral Clover is spending the early summer on his ranch in the Napa Valley, Calif.

Sir Arthur and Lady Willert have leased a cottage at Marion, Mass., for the summer months. Lady Willert and her young son, Paul Willert, will take possession on June 27, Sir Arthur joining them as often as his duties permit.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Penfield left Washington last night for Swampscott, Mass. Mr. Penfield will return on Monday, but Mrs. Penfield will remain for a visit of several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond will close their residence on Kalorama road next Sunday, when, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Hammond, they will leave Washington for their summer home, Lookout Hill, Gloucester, Mass.

Mrs. Frederick A. Keep left town today for New York, where she will spend some time before going to Burlington, Mass., to visit her mother, Mrs. William J. Boardman, at her summer home.

Mrs. William A. Slater has returned to Washington to close her residence in I Street, after which she will go to York Harbor, Me., for the summer. Her country estate at Lenox, Mass., is rented for the season.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Albert G. Winterhalter have closed their apartment in Florence Court and gone to the Pacific coast for a six weeks' vacation.

Mrs. John B. Henderson and her son, Mr. John B. Henderson, Jr., will leave Washington on Monday to pass the summer months at Bar Harbor.

Maj. Gen. James H. McRae, recently returned from France, has been spending a short leave with his family in Washington. On June 28 Gen. McRae will leave for Camp Travis, Tex., where he will be in command of the 1st Cavalry Division. Mrs. McRae and her daughters accompanied him. Mrs. McRae has given up her apartment at the Parkwood.

The marriage of Mrs. Gladys Foulke Smith, daughter of Mrs. Charles M. Foulke, of Washington, and Capt. Marcel Leve, of the French high commission, took place yesterday in Philadelphia. The wedding was very simple and only a few intimate friends were present. Capt. Leve, who has been in this country about a year, expects to return to France this summer, taking his bride with him.

How American Women May Keep Faces Young

"The American smart woman ages early, far earlier than the English woman," says Christian Miller, P. C. I., the famous English health expert. She adds that our climate "so exhilarates that you over-exert yourself and grow old before you know it. That same exhilarating air dries the skin. The skin that lacks moisture grows pale and wrinkled looking and soon forms wrinkles."

"The American complexion" is best treated by applying pure mercuric wax, which causes the faded particles, a little each day, in minute fresh, young skin beneath is wholly wax; one ounce usually has this spread on at night like cold cream, washing it off next morning—Ady.
